FOR THE RECORD. . .

We traded a Herald stationwagon a few weeks ago after putting on 105,000 miles in travel in two and one-half years of a multitude of trips, deliveries, and assignments which literally carried that vehicle everywhere but to El Paso.

And yes, that was 116 on Sunday night sports on Channel 6, somebody said, calling scores, in the men's doubles final of the Waco Open.

I was noting some local scores after watching Trogolo win the men's singles title when somebody asked me to call the match between Trogolo's vanquished singles opponent, his partner and a doubles team from Houston. (See Sports, inside)

I lost in early rounds in men's and 35s singles. And it was the first time I had called part of a real match in a number of years. It's been some years since I shook the umpire-scorer's hand after a tournament finals match.

Cameron made an impressive start in sending young players to this tournament, one of five qualifying tournaments for Texas players, and one of the biggest.

The junior-high age group saw the difference between tournament tennis and school team tennis, which is considerable. A number of those kids is entering the Killeen tournament.

Work is progressing on Cameron's new four-court complex on East Sixth St. Basework continues and asphalt work will be next, followed by installation of regulation 12-foot backstops, 20-candle regulation night lights, and standard green-red surface painting with white lines, the latter courtesy of local tennis club members.

After the city courts are finished, we hope the CISD board will take a look at the Yoe Court surface, perhaps allowing a refinish of the three courts, though they turned down the proposal for new ones. Yoe lights could also be improved.

I know of no other individual sport which is getting greater participation than tennis. If I hadn't played since I was 12, I would say the same thing.

Congratulations to Ed Cauley and the 1975 Yoemen for the pre-season No. 1 ranking in AA football.

But if they thought the pressure built last year with each additional week in the playoffs, they don't know the pressure that's awaiting.

Cauley already has said every opponent will be up, hoping to recoup last year's loss or to put No. 1 down.

It is fitting that Cameron football is rated that high, since the town itself has No. 1 status in towns of 5,000 to 10,000 ind development as well as leadership in several fields.

These are great days for Cameronites, who have by the thousands learned that winning can be as easy as losing and a lot more fun.

It's difficult to understand why we took so long to realize our potential, but once realized, it's been "thumbs up" the past couple of years.

The Yoemen will learn this year, more than ever before, that "class will tell" only when performance is equal to potential.

Champions inevitably work harder than anybody, even if it's just psycheing themselves up every waking minute.

Auto Accidents Mar Holiday

Drivers Injured In 1-Car Mishaps, Horse Killed

Texas Highway Patrol troopers reported two accidents in Milam County over the Fourth weekend and Monday, with one driver listed as critical at first by a Temple hospital.

A one-car crash early Saturday eight miles north of Cameron on FM 485 left a Cameron man in critical condition late Saturday in Temple's Scott and White Hospital. However, he was listed as improving Sunday by a hospital spokesman.

He was driving east on the farm road about 1:30 a.m. Saturday when he apparently lost control of his car and crashed into a bridge abutment, Broadus said.

Miller received head and chest injuries in the accident.

He was alone in the car, Broadus said. He was rushed to St. Edward Hospital in Cameron and later transferred to Scott and White at Temple where he is reported improving.

The other accident occurred Monday night on Highway 190 just east of the Highway 77 intersection. A car driven by Virgil Snowgren of Temple struck a horse which was on the raod.

Snowgren was taken to Veterans Hospital at Temple with undetermined injuries. The horse was killed and considerable damage done to the car.

Highway Patrolman Jerry Benson of Rockdale investigated that accident.

LIFE-SAVING TECHNIQUE with a respirator is demonstrated by a Red Cross teacher as part of a life saving course given at the local city pool. The Red Cross donated the respirator, which will be kept at the pool during the summer and with the volunteer fire department during the winter months.

Screwworm Threat Seen For County

Laboratory identification of worms collected from the navel of a calf in Robertson County June 26, and one in Bell County June 13, as screwworms pose a direct threat to livestock and pets in Milam County.

Dr. J. E. Novy, director of field operations for the U. S.Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworms Eradication Programs, notes this is Robertson County's first confirmed case of the live flesh eating parasite since 1972 when that County recorded 271 cases.

Novy urges owners to carefully watch for infestations in wounds of all warm blooded animals. Infestations are likely soon in Milam County livestock and pets.

A sample from the center of any worm infested wound shuld be sent to the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (AIHIS) laboratory at Mission for identification.

Sample kits are available from County Agents, veterinarians, and livestock inspectors. Each person submitting a sample is notified of the identification. Strong control measures begin when the worm sample proves to be screwworms.

When treating infested wounds, Novy urges that all larvae (worms) be killed with an approved insecticide. Untreated infestations are often re-infested. This can result in death of the host animals.

In a cooperative program with the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), sexually sterile screwworm flies were ground released in the areas where the Robertson and Bell county cases were found. This is being followed by hot-spotting with approximately 100-thousand sterile flies air-dropped in the vicinity of each case for three consectuive weeks.

Ranchers can protect their animals from possible screwworm infestations by treating all wounds with an approved smear, and spraying or dipping regularly with CoRal or Korlan. Pet owners are urged to see their veterinarian immediately upon finding a suspicious appearing wound.

Extension Granted For Food Stamps

Food stamp recipients can use 50-cent, $2 and old $5 food stamps until Aug. 31, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced today.

USDA introduced a new food stamp series--$1, $5, and $10--on March 1 with a deadline of June 30 for spending old series food stamps at authrized retail food stores and meal services. The deadline was extended to allow recipients who were issued old coupons in March, April, and May adequate time to use them.

Grocers and meal services can redeem old coupons at commercial banks through Sept. 30.

Rockdale Woman Is Critical After Shooting

A 68-year-old Rockdale woman remains in critical condition in Scott and White Hospital after receiving two .38-caliber bullet wounds in the upper left chest, a hospital spokesman said.

The victim, identified by Rockdale police as Melba P. Lowman, was found Friday in her residence with two wounds. Police said the woman called a neighbor at about 11 a.m. Friday and the neighbor called the police.

Officers found the front door of the home locked, police said, but the victim managed to crawl from the back bedroom where the shooting occurred and let the officers in.

Police Chief Truman White said the woman was taken to Richards Hospital in Rockdale and later transferred to Scott and White at Temple by a Rockdale Police and Fire Department amublance.

Chief White said three notes were found in the woman's home indicating the wounds were self-inflicted. A .38-caliber revolver was used in the shooting, he said.

Police Report Quiet Weekend

Police Chief Kent Butler said he still gets calls from residents about fireworks, which are prohibited by city ordinance from being used in Cameron.

Butler said he calls turn out to be mostly on small children whose parents apparently don't know about the ordinance.

Leadership County Seat...

Another element of the Cameron development story is that of finance. The latest bankcall is an example.

The two Cameron banks showed about $2.7 million in deposit gains and $1.6 million in loan gains over a year ago June 30.

This percentage or ratio of deposit increases to additional loans may have led the whole Central Texas area. It demonstrates the confidence of people here in seeking expansion or improvement capital and financial institutions' willingness to meet merit with money.

Couple this confidence with the May 1 unemployment factor of only 3.6 percent in Milam County, the recent Governor's Award for beautification among cities of 5,000 to 10,000 and projects all over the city in parks, recreation, sewerline extensions, and hopefully, streets, and the picture is unique in an otherwise recession-impacted nation.

This confidence in performance is another reason Cameron is a leadership county seat in a leadership county.

The Ozark Tree Ripoff....

Why worry about trees? People in Central Texas are jealous of their oaks and pecans, but nothing resembling the demise of trees in the Ozarks of Missouri has occurred in Texas.

A recent news note reports that almost 1.5 million acres of Ozark woodlands have gone under plow since 1959. That figures about 100,000 acres a year.

This fails to mention that only 70,000 acres of the original 15 million acres of prairie remains.

Anyone who has seen the Missouri Lake of the Ozarks Region must wonder how this could be.

If anything, Cameronites worry a bit much about trees here. What would they do if the bulldozers and plowshares ripped off several thousand a year here until they were gone?

These are areas where trees likely will not grow back in hundreds of years. The vacation-land Ozarks will never be quite the same.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

FARM BILL WEEDS OUT MIDDLEMAN

Senator John Tower (Tex.) ". . .I am introducing today the Farmers Market Act of 1975, a bill (S.1985) to encourage the direct marketing of agricultural commodities from farmers to consumers. This is a modest proposal in terms of investment by the Federal Government, but it will have significant impact on the prices received by farmers, and the prices paid by consumers for farm products. . .

"In addition, consumers are able to obtain farm products of higher quality for their food dollars. . .

"Before the advent of today's gleaming supermarket system, open markets were the primary system of distributing agricultural products from farmers to consumers. Today, such farmers markets, and derivations of the concept of direct farmer-consumer marketing, can serve as a valuable and economically viable, alternative to the shopping center supermarket. . .

"The advantage of the direct farmer-consumer marketing is that the costs of the middleman are eliminated. These marketing costs which stand between the farmers income and the consumer's costs, represent 60 percent of every food dollar. That 6o percent represents money spent byconsumers which never reaches the farmer. .

"Potentially, farmers markets can double the prices received by farmers and reduce costs for the consumer by 20 percent. . .

"The Farmers Market Act of 1975 is not limited to assisting the development of traditional farmers mar- of this bill involves pilot programs sponsored by the USDA which would foster techniques of direct marketing of agricultural commodities. . .

"The Farmers Market Act of-975 authorizes appropriations of $5 million for the program, and such sums as are necessary to conduct the annual survey, and compile the annual report. These sums are insignificant in comparison to the number of Americans who will benefit from the Farmers Market Act . . ."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

S. 1985 will get the attentionof every merchant who retials farm produce. It will also get the attention of every individual who is included in the army of employees who make up the "middlemen." This bill would llkely have been buried in the Congressinal Record if the Record were not scanned every day.

Malpractice Insurance Row Lands In Court

Argonaut Insurance Companies, one of the largest carriers of malpractice insurance, filed suit to enjoin the State Insurance Board from freezing rates at the June 3 level.

Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie charged insurance companies appeared to have inflated their rates when a new law required them to file with the Board.

"It's beginning to look like the classic case of weighing the butcher's thumb along with the hamburger," Christie said. He said one company nearly doubled quoted mid-May rates after the legislature ordered filing with the regulatory agency.

A Board order of June 27 put companies on notice that only premium rates in effect June 3 may be charged for renewal of policies for doctors and hospitals unless a 90-day notice of increase is furnished the insured.

Argonaut went to court and got a temporary restraining order effective until a July 10 hearing, blocking the 90-day notice provision.

The provision, Argonaut attorneys claimed, imposed a past duty they could not have anticipated. They also contended that re-issuing policies at pre-May rates even though inadequate would "result in irreparable damage" to companies.

Press Buy Protested

Texas printers are strongly protesting a proposal by Secretary of State Mark White Jr. to explore purchase of a large web-offset printing press to print copies of the proposed new state constitution.

White said press dealers informed him the state could save $150,000 by doing its own printing of the document and the new official "Texas Register."

Printers, backed by an auditor's letter, claim the press purchase would cost the state far more than commercial printing of the constitution and register, and would lead to additional government competition with the printing industry.

Austin State Sen. Lloyd Doggett requested an attorney general's opinion on constitutionality of the purchase. Printers threatened a lawsuit to stop it.

White said no purchase will be made unless bids clearly show money can be saved.

Five and a half million copies of the constitution document must be mailed to voters by October. About 100 editions a year of the Register will be printed, containing official state orders, proposed regulations, notice of hearings and attorney general's opinions.

Jobless Payments Drop

Jobless benefits dropped $1 million — to $22 million — in Texas during June, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

But a total of $118.7 million in unemployment benefits have been paid January-June, compared with $79.1 million in all 1974.

AG Opinions

State employees may be compensated for job injuries after July 18, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Texas Air Control Board can take photos of pollution control equipment, most of which would be confidential.

The complete financial statement of a municipally-owned radio station is public information and should be disclosed.

County Commissioners must fill a vacancy in a county school superintendent's office.

A "hot check" submitted for tax payment is public information in absence of any assertion of a privacy interest.

Appointments

Harry Hornby Jr., Uvalde Leader-News publisher; was named by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Board of Regents of the Texas State University System.

Charles Meadows, former Odessa fire chief, has been appointed state fire marshall to head arson investigation and licensing of fire prevention and detection alarm equipment.

William J. Edwards of Galveston was named by Briscoe to the pharmacist position on the Texas Board of Health Resources.

Hearings Slated

Five hearings over the state are examining needs for revision of solid waste disposal regulations.

The first was held in Dallas July 1, the second in Corpus Christi July 8,

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

As you know, there's a great stir these days over bugging, but as usual the high-powered columnists are talking more about the problem than the solution.

As I understand it, bugging and wire-tapping have been developed to such a fine stage for example that a microphone or bigger than an aspirin tablet can pick up all the voices in a room and broadcast them to a receiver a mile away.

Furthermore, since about three-fourths of all long-distance calls now go over microwave circuits, no wires required, some smart people have developed a method of picking telephone calls right out of the air, and the Russian Embassy in Washington has beensuspected of doing just that, enabling it to listen in on all sorts of important governmental conversations. like who's going on the next junket to te Bahamas.

Also, the wire-tapping of telephones, as against the law and as unpunishable as corporate contributions to a campaign, has been on the increase.

As a result, the columnists have had something to write about for weeks now, denouncing this invasion of privacy, and rightly so.

But I haven't read anything about the plight of the people who have to listen in to all that telephone talk.

I have never talked to a Congressman on the telephone, but if they don't say any more on the phone than they do in a letter when you ask them something they don't want to answer or take sides on, the wire-tappers are in for some dreary listening. Imagine having to listen to a tape recording of everything a Congressman says on the telephone 24 hours a day for 30 days. You'd have to pan a mighty long time before you got any gold out of that un-Congress that didn't know any more than you and me up to; in fact, a Congress that went a year without knowing we had a war going in Cambodia.

Of course the answer to all that wire-tapping, like the answer to most problems is simple; put everybody in Washington on an 8-hour party line. Best way I know to keep secret, juicy information from gettingaround. In three weeks time every telephone conversation in Washington would be painstakingly guarded.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Screwworm Cases Likely

By Bill McCutchen

Screwworm cases are quite likely to break out in Milam County with unseasonably cool, wet weather for this time of year. Cases have been confirmed in neighboring counties increasing the liklihood that we will have some trouble.

I would urge cattlemen to check livestock closely, particularly new-born calves, and to avoid any injury that might give screwworms a chance.

Vials addressed to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory are available at the County Agricultural Extension Office or from any veterinarian.

Spider Mites

Spider mites cause severe damage to many vegetable gardens each year and are usually built up most on gardens this time of the year as other host plants begin to die out.

Although tomatoes and green beans are the favorite targets of these insect pests, they also feed on and damage most other garden crops.

Spider mites are red in color and extremely small in size. Thy are usually found on the underside of leaves and cause damages by sucking plant juices. Large populations of mites can build up rapidly causing leaf drop and eventual death of untreated plants.

Control is often difficult and the trick to control is early treatment when mites are observed and using the right material. I have had the best results with Kilthane. It takes about three applications at 5 day intervals. Diazinon, sulfur, or ethion is also recommended for spider mie control.

Farm Tour Set In Gause Community

By John E. Snell

The annual IFPP Farm Tour will be held in Gause on Saturday, July 12 at 9:30 a.m. The tour group will meet at Coats' Grocery and Market at 9:30 a.m. and will proceed to the first stop which will be a corn variety demonstration conducted on the Brown Ely farm.

Truck crops, coastal bermuda grss, beef cattle, and corn fertilizer and weed control demonstrations will also be observed in the Gause community.

The tour will end at a peanut demonstration conducted with Brutis Pittman in the Maysfield community. At the termination of the tour, a watermelon cut will be held.

Cotton Prices To Remain Low

"Don't expect cotton prices to turn up overnight. We've got more cotton than is needed, both domestically and for world markets," David Jordening of Cotton Incorporated told producers at the annual Blackland Research Center Field Day.

"The world economic downturn has aggravated cotton's situation. Conditions that have prevailed for most of this crop year have sharply reduced U. S. and world cotton usage, resulting in prospect of a very large carryover this August.

Cotton carryover must decline, or show strong signs of falling, before cotton prices can return to profitable levels," said Jordening, who is manager of supply economics with Cotton incorporated, the cotton producer's organization.

"Meanwhile, a worldwide cotton surplus can be effectively countered in only one way--reduce production until the surplus is worked off and prices return to profitable levels. The expected reduced carryover for 1976 should make its impression on the market before that time, perhaps by early next year," Jordening added.

At the field day, producers and other area leaders saw research aimed at increasing the efficiency of sorghum, cotton, and forage production, and possible "new" crops such as sunflowers, guar, and soybeans.

If wages had gone up no faster than food prices in the last 20 years, the average industrial worker would be earning $2.59 an hour, not $3.89, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

New Cotton Batting Is Meeting Safety Rules

RALEIGH

A highly resilient cushioning and bedding material that can meet present and anticipated federal fire safety standards has been developed by researchers on behalf of U.S. cotton producers.

The new batting hs been assigned the trademark, "Flex-Xel." It is made from cotton linters, cotton motes--a low grade by-product of ginning and milling--and other textile wastes.

The batting was developed by Cotton Incorpoarted, the fiber company of U. S. cotton producers; Ramcon, Inc., a research and management company in Memphis; and the Norman W. Paschall Co., a buyer, seller, and processor of cotton and synthetics in Peachtree City, Ga.

"Flex-Xel" batting gives consumers protection from fire that polyurethane foam cannot give, according to Hal E. Brockman, vice-president for textile research and development for Cotton Incorporated.

Polyurethane foam currently dominates the cushioning and bedding materials market.

"Flex-Xel" batting meets current federal standards which stipulate that a mattress not smolder when a lighted cigarette is laid on it, explained Dr. Leonard Smith, associate director for fire retardance research for Cotton Incoporated.

"While foam can pass a cigarette test, it burns readily when exposed to an open fame," Smith said.

An open flame test is already included in Californaia safety standards for upholstered furniture, Smith noted. And "Flex-Xel" cushioning can be treated to meet the standard.

"Flex-Xel" batting also makes better cushioning than foam or conventional, plain cotton," Brockamnn said. "It is more resilient, and it provides more comfort."

Laboratory tests show that "Flex-Xel" cushioning is also durable.

"We have subjected the "Flex-Xel" cushioning to torture tests and it failed only when the pressure was so great that the springs broke," explained Dr. Smith.

"Flex-Xel" does not bottom-out or develop sag, as foam does after repeated use, Smith said.

Success of the "Flex-Xel" batting will mea a comeback for cotton in the batting market, Brockmann declared.

Regular cotton batting has been losing out to foam because it could not pass federal flammability standards, was not as resilient as foam, and could not be molded, shaped, or tailored as easily as foam.

The new "Flex-Xel" batting can meet all these requirements at a lower cost than foam, Brockmann said. "Flex-Xel' batting can halt the displacement of cotton in these markets. It can turn the markets around and increase cotton consumption."

The three major markers at which "Flex-Xel" batting will be directed initially are mattresses and box springs, automotive and truck seats, and upholstered furniture, Brockmann said.

Production of the batting began in January. The first licensee is National Bedding and Furniture Industries of Memphis, a member of the Serta group of mattress and cushioning producers, one of the three largest manufacturers of batting in the country.

Most of the current production is going into mattress insulator pads and toppers, with some going into upholstered furniture.

Wild Horses, Burros On Increase

Wild horses and wild burros are far from being a vanishing breed, reports the U. S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior.

A report on the Wild Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act indicates that the number of animals using public lands is substantially greater than had been reported prior to passage of the act in 1972.

Data available in 1971 indicated there were approximately 17,000 wild horses and 10,000 wild burros on lands administered by Agriculture's Forest Service and Interior's Bureau of Land Management.

Today it is estimated that there are 27,000 wild unbranded and unclaimed horses and 14,000 burros grazing on public lands. Another 17,000 horses and 100 burros have been claimed as privately owned.

Expanded efforts to locate wild herds, improved inventory methods and population growth were given as the reasons for the increase.

SAFETY CORNER

Keep Guard Up!

Don't count on growing a new finger-it hasn't happened yet! Keep guards in place near moving belts, pulleys, gears and sprockets. Special situations or old machinery may require homemade guards. Use No. 16 hardware cloth with ½" opening if clearance from hazard is less than 4". No. 12 woven wire with 2" opening where clearance is more than 4". Support shield material with sturdy framework.

Weaker Cattle Market Seen

What's in store for cattlemen as far as prices are concerned for the remainder of 1975?

"Although there's optimism in some circles due to current stronger market prices and an increase in cattle feeding, it's a little early for cattlemen to begin cheering," contends Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "In fact, producers may be in for another drop in market prices as the year moves along."

So Uvacek advises cattlemen to market or contract calves early and cull old cows as soon as possible.

What are the reasons for Uvacek's gloomy outlook?

First of all, the supply of grain-fed beef should increase during the second half of the year. Fed cattle marketings are expected to be about 9 percent larger durig the last six months of 1975 than during the first half of the year.

Increased cow liquidations will also boost the total beef supply. Uvacek expects cow slaughter to increase 42 percent during the last half of 1975 compared to the first six months of the year.

More beef will also result from large kills of non-fed steers and heifers and calves. Slaughter of non-fed steers and heifers is expected to be up almost 70 percent, according to the Tecas A&M University System specialist.

"Cow-calf produces are loaded with calves that they will be marketing this summer and fall," points out Uvacek. "Many of them will be moving to feedlots, but the expected overflow is sure to bring feeder prices down.

"All this means a weaker cattle market during the remainder of this year," believes the specialist.

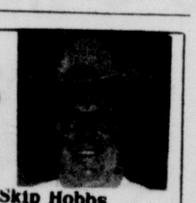
TEXAS TALK



By Skip Hobbs

Trying to make a Beef Board fly is the primary function of Beef Development Taskforce members as they work toward ironing out problems to the beef checkoff plan. Initial congressional response to the proposal was one of concern that the method for collecting the funds generated by the checkoff would be too complicated. Basically the proposal calls for payment to a national Beef Board of .3 percent of the value of beef through each stage of marketing. The 69-member Beef Board would then utilize that money collected in three primary areas: research, beef promotion and consumer education. Enforcement of the checkoff would be the responsibility of the United States Department of Agriculture. USDA officials have asked Taskforce members to suggest ways in which the collection methods could be simplified and improved. Proponents of the Beef Board checkoff say it could be the most significant step forward for the beef business since the commercial feedlot.

Higher, Higher, How Much Higher? . . . Changes in Brucellosis Indemnity . . . Summertime Harvests.

Last March, during the annual National Pork Congress held in the Midwest, a few brave optimists were talking about hogs "hitting $50 at a few markets by late summer." It sounded good, but not too much was made of it.

Now hog prices during the first few weeks of summer have hit the $60 area in many markets across the nation.

Why? Take a look at the hog numbers. Here in Texas we are not the nation's leading hog state, but what happened here is similar to the situations in the major hog states.

As of June 1, hogs and pigs on Texas farms totaled 800,000 head. That doesn't mean much by itself, but put it in perspective and you find that hog numbers in the state are at their lowest level since 1966. It also is a decrease of 14 per cent from a year ago. Breeding hog numbers are 20 per cent under a year ago.

Nationwide, the same story is true. Hog numbers are at their lowest level since 1964. The number kept for breeding, at 7.4 million, is down 17 per cent, and market hogs and pigs are down 19 per cent.

For the future, it appears, say economists, that hog prices should hold up through the year. Hog producers intend to farrow 4.7 million sows now through November, which is 13 per cent below a year ago and down 19 per cent from two years ago.

REVISION IN THE REGULATIONS for paying indemnity to owners of cattle destroyed because of brucellosis as well as tuberculosis have been announced. They are:

1. Allowing indemnity payments for nonregistered (grade) bulls affected with brucellosis. Formerly, no indemnity was paid for these bulls.

2. Limiting to 15 days the extension periods which may be allowed for each of the following: identifying infected cattle, destroying infected and exposed cattle, and cleaning and disinfecting contaminated premises.

Changes in the tuberculosis indemnity payments are:

A. Allowing indemnity payments for unregistered (grade) bulls and steers affected with tuberculosis and for certain cattle which have been exposed to the disease.

B. Allowing payments for half the cost of destroying cattle disposed of because of tuberculosis--including half the cost of transporting such animals to the point of disposal--with prior approval by the federal veterinarian in charge.

C. Limiting to 15 days the extension periods allowed for destroying affected cattle, and cleaning and disinfecting contaminated premises.

SUMMERTIME HARVEST of wheat, sorghum, and other crops in Texas continues in spite of the usual slowdowns for showers and equipment repairs.

Wheat harvest for the state is now more than three-fourths completed; this is behind schedule of the past few years. Harvesting on the dryland crop is virtually complete, and is now underway in the irrigated sections.

Cotton harvesting on a major basis is still in the offing, although the first bale of cotton for the 1975 crop has been ginned.

Sorghum harvest is moving northward from South Texas; yields in that area are down from earlier estimates due to dry weather.

ROUGH RICE STOCKS in Texas are up 23 per cent above a year earlier; milled rice stocks are seven per cent above a year earlier in the state.

Nationwide, rough rice stocks are 29 per cent higher than last year; milled rice stocks are 19 per cent below a year ago.

Throughout the rice belt in Texas, seeding is in its final stages. Planting had made good progress until interrupted by rains recently.

AUG. 15 may seem far away right now, but it really will be here sooner than you realize. That is the deadline for registration in the Family Land Heritage program. Families and their descendants who have owned and farmed the same piece of land for 100 years or more are eligible to qualify for this honor. A total of 560 families received the award last year.

So far, more than 40 applications have been received. If you would like to apply, contact your county judge for an application blank or write to the sponsor of the program: Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

SCREWWORMS are being reported in record numbers in some parts of the state including South Texas. Some cases have been confirmed as far north as the Edwards Plateau.

Officials at the screwworm fly laboratory at Mission continue to urge livestock producers to send suspected samples of screwworms to the fly lab at Mission for verification. This will assist in the battle to eradicate the pest.

Meanwhile, sheep shearing is in the completion state in the Edwards Plateau. Elsewhere over the state, hay baling is continuing, but yield from first cuttings have been short and some hay has been lost due to wet weather.

In the High Plains area, 400,000 acres of cotton were damaged by hail, hard winds, and rain.

SHEEP AND LAMB FEEDING in Texas is 58 per cent below a year ago as of June 1, but is up 57 per cent from a month ago.

Marketings during May totaled 33,000 head. Current intentions to market are: June, 22,000; July, 19,000; and August, 6,000. July and August intentions are incomplete at this time because additional lambs could still be placed on feed and marketed during these months.

RED MEAT PRODUCTION in Texas during April is up 25 per cent from a year ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

April slaughter of cattle totaled 398,000 head, which was 95,000 more than a year ago. The calf kill for April was 45,500 head, which is an increase of 35,800 head over a year ago.

Hog slaughter during the first four months of this year was down eight per cent from the previous year.

SAN FRANCISCO

Hollywood director Sam Peckinpah, critically assailed for the level of violence in his action films like :'The Wild Bunch" and "Straw Dogs" objects strongly to the label that has been put to him of "director of violence." "It's not that my films are more violent. It's just that they are more effective," he says. "I made 'The Wild Bunch' that way because I knew that people didn't die the way they did in westerns."

BRAZIL

Brazilian experts are developing caviar from flying fish and claim that it is every bit as good as the best raditiional caviar made from Caspian Sea sturgeon. What is more, the tropical flying fish have an important advantage over the less acrobatic sturgeon in that they can provide an inexhaustible supply of caviar, because you do not have to kill them to obtain their eggs.

A potentially dangerous and explosive dispute is developing between the United States and Panama over the future control of the US Panama Canal zone. A top State Department negotiator, Ellsworth Bunker, is working out details of a new treaty aimed at giving soverignty and jurisdiction over the canal zone to Panama but allowing the United States to operate and defend the canal.

Renewed violence ha brought tension in the Spanish Basque country to what may be the highestl level since the civil war. For eight months during the 1936-39 civil war in Spain, three of its four Basque provinces ruled themselves as an autonomous republic after voting massively for regional independence in a referendum.

HOLLYWOOD

The late screen tough guy Humphrey Bogart enjoys a popularity today far exceeding any other dramatic star of the past because of the inherent honesty of his acting, according to his biographer Nathanial Benchley. "He wasn't a great actor--he said that himself, "Benchley says. "But he projected a kind of honesty in his acting which is very hard to date."

LONDON

Britain's Labour government, after 16 troubled months in office, has finally declared full-scale war on inflation, even if it means a spectacular and embarrassing political retreat and a revolt by its left wing. The cabinet ultimatum to the unions to accept a 10 percent wage limit or have it imposed by law for the next round of wage talks has sent shock waves through the Labour movement.

This month's US-Soviet joint space mission should prove both the compatibility and adaptability of the American and Russian space programs. The Apollo-Soyuz test project (ATSP), history's first manned international space venture, will prove that American astronauts and Soviet cosmonauts, flying their own spacecraft, can link up in space and live and work together.

COULD YOUR AIR CONDITIONING/ HEATING DEALER PASS THE LENNOX TEST? WE DID.

Our technicians completed the toughest heat pump school in the business so you could have the best heat pump installation available. The Lennox school is tough — and smart.

A LENNOX DEALER IS QUALIFIED TO SELL HEAT PUMPS ONLY AFTER ATTENDING THE LENNOX HEAT PUMP SCHOOL AND PASSING A COMPREHENSIVE EXAM. This means we'll give your heat pump system the "expertise" needed for proper installation and service.

Lennox has set some other specific standards if a dealer is to remain qualified. Among them:

- A dealer must maintain an adequate parts inventory to render prompt and efficient service.
- He must maintain proper service records and offer maintenance contracts.
- A dealer must allow Lennox to periodically recheck his ability to properly install and service heat pump equipment.

We are proud to have met the necessary requirements and become a qualified heat pump dealer. You can be certain we will make sure your Lennox heat pump system is — and continues to be — the best possible.

Know Laws For Safe Boating

To know the rules of safe boating is to know the law, and in recreational boating there is a lot to know.

During the month of May, department game wardens filed 903 citations for water safety infractions, some 590 of which were for failure to have the proper number of life jackets on board.

The TP&WD is offering free copies of its "Digest of the Texas Water Safety Act" and the U. S. Coast Guard's "Federal Requirements for Recreational Boats."

Both are available by writing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, TX 78701, or the Texas Safety Assocation, 5014 Bull Creek Road, Austin, 78731. Please specify the desired literature.

'Texas Football' Touts Cameron AA No. 1

"Texas Football", likely the states authoritative source for schoolboy-college-university football lore, has touted the Cameron Yoemen No. 1 in pre-season AA gridiron selections.

Title page on AA Texas football coverage is headlined "A Summit Fling for Cameron's Yoemen," picturing senior Joe Smitherman and listing AA all-starter Ronnie Bennett in the 1974 first string line. Smitherman is an all-district tackle and Bennett, at 6-7, is a defensive end. Both are seniors.

Yoe Head Coach Ed Cauley is quoted at length about prospects for 1975 with nine offensive and seven defensive players returning from the quarter-finalist 10-1-2 Yoeman powerhouse.

Fans recall that Newton field goal in the last 6 seconds which beat the Yoemen at Hunstville, 10-7, when the Yoemen were leading on penetrations in a 7-7 scoring deadlock.

Newton went on to win the 1974 AA grid title over Spearman, 56-26.

Cauley told "Texas Football" that "our scout told us going into the ball game 'whoever wins this one will win the state'."

CAMERON NO. ONE

All the returning lettermen, 16 of the 17 starters, put Cameron No. 1 in the grid magazine's pre-season selections: Freer is second, followed by LaGrange with 18 lettermen back from a 10-3-1 semi-finalist team which lost to Newton, 17-7. Others in pre-season order, according to "Texas Football" are 4. Olton, 5. Cisco, 6. White Oak, 7. Ballinger, 8. Poteet, 9. Quitman, and 10. Alpine.

The article finds the Cameron campus loaded with talent, out of which Cauley anticipates three or four college prospects, "almost unheard of for an AA school."

Football is one of several sports Cauley's gridders excelled in, the article notes. The starting regional finalist basketball five were football players and a number were on the track squad, baseball club finishing second in district in track and field and co-champions in baseball.

Several gridders were on the Yoe 440-yard sprint relay team which won second in AA state behind Hearne's blistering first place finish, including Jafus White, who is pictured in the magazines coverage of 23AA football teams.

CALDWELL TIES

The magazine gives Caldwell a good chance with Cameron with nine standouts returning. Caldwell tied Cameron in a scoreless duel last fall, the edge broken by Elgin which defeated the Hornets in the last regular season game and sent Cameron into the 1974 playoffs.

Because of Cameron and LaGrange, "Texas Football" finds AA football power is returning to South Texas, projecting Freer against LaGrange in the quarters and Cameron in the semi-finals.

Coverage of Cameron's 1975 AA football prosects is contained in the 208-page, four color magazine annually published by Dave Campbell and associates of Waco.

Cover picture is of Grant Teaff, Baylor University football coach who was the nation's major college coach of the year in 1974, after guiding Baylor to a South-West Conference championship after 50 years without a grid title in Waco.

The magazine is available on newsstands everywhere.

Trogolo Beats Rush In Waco Open Finale

'Recycled' Items Are Smart Buy

"My husband and I are proud to announce that earlier this month we purchased a 'recycled' room air conditioner--not a 'used' one, but recycled," Mrs. Janice Carberry, family resource management specialist said.

By doing this, the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University system, said she felt they were helping the environment by putting to use some of America's still good unused resources and not using new supplies of limited resources.

"But if we'd bought a 'used' unit, that would have meant it was second hand and people would have know that a new model was more than our pocketbook could afford.

"Of course that's true, but i's not something we'd write home to Mother or brag to the neighbors about," she said.

The psychology of this has made some staff members of the Federal Trade Commission think that many people will prefer "recycled" over "used." They have proposed a word change on used products being sold--recycled golf balls and tires, for example.

She said that by substituting the word "recycled" the stigma of buying some used products would be removed and the environmental concerns associated with recycling could be enhanced.

"They may have a point. There is a certain amount of pride in using stationery 'made completely from recycled paper.' Not too many people will boast of wearing 'hand-me-down clothes' --but a 'rare bargain found at a garage sale and recycled into a fashionable tunic top' is the same song with a niftier tune," she said.

Mrs. Carberry cautioned consumers to make sure they have a real need for the recycled item and that it still works before buying.

Liberty Bell Was Silent As The Nation Was Born

Contrary to popular belief, the Liberty Bell was not rung on July 4 that steamy Pennsylvania summer. It did not peal untilfour days later.

In fact, on July 4, 1776, hardly any of Philadelphia's citizens knew about Thomas Jefferson's just inked Declaration of Independence. They had to wait a couple of days to find out what it said and how it had committed them to a showdown with King George III.

The Liberty Bell is and has been depicted throughout much of the world as a symbol of victory of freedom over tyranny, the National Geographic Society says. During the Bicentennial, millions of Americans will visit it, now housed in a special pavilion in downtown Philadelphia.

Silent Witness

But two centuries ago the Liberty Bell hung across the street in the State House of the Province of Pennsylvania, now Independence Hall. Four floors below in secret meetings that July, history was being writ large by a roomful of rebels--The Founding Fathers.

None of them thought to have the bell rung on July 2, when, assembled as the Second Continental Congress, they voted unanimously to approve a "resolution of independence" introduced by Virginia Delegate Richard Henry Lee.

The bell also was silent July 4 when the congress unanimously adopted what the resolution authorized: the no-backing-down Declaratior of Independence that Thomas Jefferson had spent the last few days drafting.

On July 6 the Philadelphia newspaper, the Pennsylvania Packet, scored the scoop of the era when it came out with the full, undeleted text of the Dcclaration.

Then, two days later, the Liberty Bell rang when the Declaration was presented officially. The bell gathered those within earshot before the State House and the Declaration was read to them by Philadelphia's sheriff. He was Colonel John Nixon, long since overshadowed in history by a distant kinsman, the 37th president of the United States

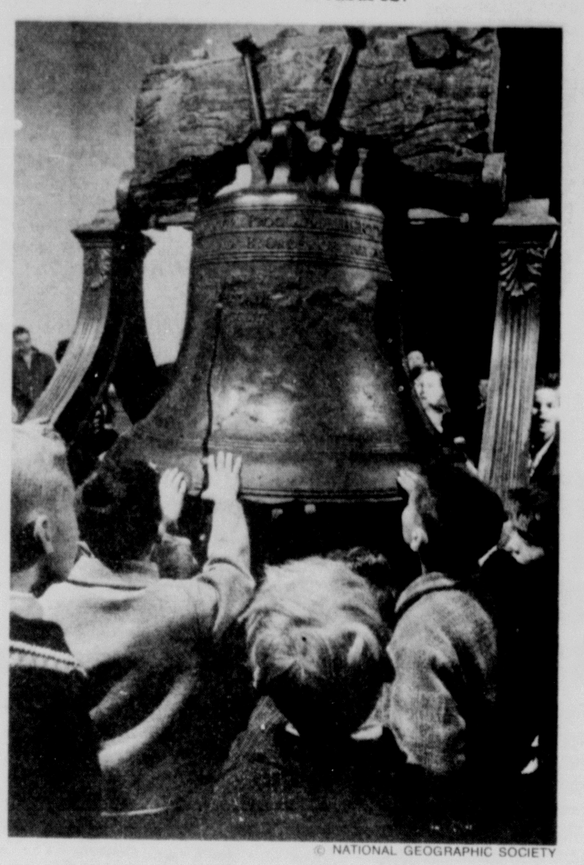
"Lethal Weapon"

Patriotism aside, the bell was not loved by its neighbors who called it a "lethal weapon," declaring, "From its uncommon size and unusual sound it is extremely dangerous and may prove fatal to those afflicted with sickness."

In years to come, the bell marked milestones of the young nation. Then, on July 8, 1835, the 59th anniversary of its mot famous day, the bell cracked while tolling the death of Chief Justice John Marshall who had died in Philadelphia.

A replacement bell was made by John Wilbank of Germantown, Pennsylvania. He refused to haul away the broken Liberty Bell, insisting: "Drayage cost more than the bell is worth."

Philadephia's city fathers took him to court, dropping their suit only when he offered and they accepted as a gift the burdensome relic that is now one of the nation's treasures.



© NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY

A TOUCH of history is the Liberty Bell's souvenir for these young visitors to Philadelphia. The bell now awaits Bicentennial crowds in its own pavilion opposite Independence Hall, the traditional home of this famous national treasure.

Consumer Market Report

COLLEGE STATION

Fresh fruits head economy buys in the market this week, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, reported.

Currently soft fresh fruits --plums, nectarines, grapes, apricots, Bing cherries, and peaches--are available in varying amounts at various price levels, the specialist with the Texas Agricultual Extension Service, The Tecas A&M University System, said.

"Other good fruit values are Valencia oranges, bananas, lemons, cantaloupes, watermelons, and honeydew melons.

"Increasing supplies of fresh vegetables make this an ideal time to can extras. Those worth considering, pricewise, are soft shell squash, corn, carrots, snap beans, cabbage, green onions, and potatoes."

Nonfat milk will continue in heavy supply for at least a month or more.

Fyer chickens are in good promotional favor, and Mrs. Clyatt suggested either chicken or an economical small turkey would make a good barbecue treat.

Grade A large eggs continue to offer the best combination of quality and economy.

Turning to beef,she reported prices about the same as last week. In general, best beef values are round steaks and roasts, ground beef, and chuck roasts and steaks.

Pork prices remain relatively high, but some good buys can be found by comparison shopping from newspaper ads, she said.

Grades Vary For Lumber

Although the do-it-yourselfer or home buyer may never notice them, and usually doesn't have to, grade stamps on lumber are his assurance that the material has been manufactured under close quality control.

When a home project calls for floor joists, roof trusses or rafters, or load-bearing wall studs and plates, adequate grades of lumber must be installed.

Building codes specify the grade needed, and the home owner should check with local officials. Stamps on the lumber state species and grades, for which strength values have been assigned.

Allowable knots and other imperfections vary with the grade, and some are permitted even in the strongest grades. Where appearance is a big factor, the buyer may wish to be more selective visually.

For small projects where strength or looks are not vital, lower grades at lower prices usually are adequate.

Screens Cut Power Use

Energy saving requirements relate to cooling a house as well as heating it, and wood structures can help cut power consumption by air conditioners in several ways.

Although most heat buildup is from solar radiation striking the roof, direct and reflected radiation on walls and windows adds to the problem.

To blunt these rays, roof overhangs can be extended or overhead screens of slightly spaced western wood added to shade walls and cool patios that reflect the heat.

East and west-facing house walls contribute more heat gain than others during summer. Vertical screens of two-inch lumber combined with plantings can be used to shade these walls.

In addition to cutting power bills, the screens will provide shaded areas for outdoor living.

GI Bill Increases Enrollments

The current GI Bill, in effect since June 1, 1966, has passed its ninth anniversary, and the Veterans Administration has pronounced it in a thriving state of health.

Increased enrollments in each of the first four months of this year--peaking at a record 1.8 million--was cited as one sign of its viability.

April enrollments were nearly 17 percent above April a year ago and 2.2 percent above March. In fiscal year 1974, a record 2.4 million veterans and military service personnel used GI Bill benefits while nearly 5.7 million have used it since 1966.

VA Officials said an upsurge in enrollemnts this year followed enactment of the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Act of 1974 (Dec. 3).

"It is clear," said Waldron, "that the eartnly system is a close-woven fabric. Whether we like it or not, the nations are all interdependent. Yet this fact has not brought them into cooperation, even though they see the desperate need for this."

Discussing the convention program, Waldron said it will explore all the problems confronting mankind today and systematically review the ultimate solution.

There's rarely a festival, a fiesta, or a fair held anywhere without the familiar balloon vendor strolling through the crowd, selling happiness for a few pennies. Parents buy them for their kids and young men present them with a flourish to their girl friends.

Just why a balloon is so much fun isn't clear, but one thing is certain—the pleasure never lasts. The air leaks out, balloons unexpectedly pop, careless fingers send them soaring away forever.

But there is a far greater pleasure to be found that will last for an eternity. It is the happy pursuit of a Christian life and you can find out all about it this Sunday — in church.

LOOKING UP

Finding out what's afoot in home decorating may now be a matter of looking up! Your eyes might light on some interesting new lighting fixtures. Track lights, formerly limited to business showrooms and art galleries, have now been developed for residential use.

Because of the obvious benefits that could be applied to home lighting — to spotlight art, to highlight individual objects of interest in a room, to illuminate dark corners in a kitchen or home workshop — Halo Lighting spent more than two years redesigning and miniaturizing its commercial track system to make it attractive for homes. The result is Power-Trac, the first light fixtures that are designed to blend with any home decor.

Power-Trac consists of an electrified track that can be used on a ceiling or a wall. Different shapes and finishes are now available to blend with the decor of any room. For the contemporary look, there are aluminum spheres. For the traditional home, there are teakwood and black finished lamps. The lamps also come in white to blend with most ceilings. The lampholders can be placed at any point along the track and then turned or pivoted to point light in ary direction.

What it all points to is a bright idea of what's aloft in decorating!
